Date: March 24th, 2020

We wanted to assure our customers that Geneva Enterprises will continue to conduct business through the COVID-19 crisis as an “Essential Business or Operation” as defined by the Wisconsin State executive order.

We recognize that our products are often crucial for patient care and safety in the healthcare industry and are grateful to be able to continue to manufacture and ship our foam positioners as orders are received.

Our employees and customers health and well-being are our first priority and we will continue to conduct rigorous cleaning and disinfection processes throughout our facility. If you would like any detailed information about this process, please contact our office.

Please continue to review our website or contact customer service for any of your product needs.

We are confident that together we can see it through.

Warm regards,

Deanna Vlach
